

GONE THE NEXT DAY

IF Mary Monaghan's husband did not suddenly have an urge to "find himself", she probably would not have written this heartbreaking true story of what happens when a spouse suddenly vanishes from what seems like a loving marriage.

It is a detailed story of how she struggled to come to terms with the fact that her husband was never coming back, how she was in denial for a long time, even applying for visas, in case her husband told her where he was.

Who Do You Belong To? reads like Monaghan's journal, so the reader gets the feeling of being in someone's head and sometimes heart.

She divulges thoughts that probably even her friends and family do not know. It takes courage to publish some of these, knowing that the same friends and family will read them.

If you are man who is struggling to understand the fairer sex, then see this is as another version of What Women Want.

Monaghan shares concepts that have baffled men for ages.

Overall, this is a brilliantly written book that might have you teary-eyed every now and then.

SIBUSISO MKWANAZI

Who Do You Belong To?
by Mary Monaghan (Tortoise), R130. ISBN:
9781408801345

